3 GIRLS AND BOY DROWN IN EDDY

Motorman, Crazed by Trag-edy, Sent to Asylum

TWO MORE MISSING

Victims Jump from Auto to Avert Threatened Collision

DAVENPORT, Iowa, May 14.—Three young men and three girls were declared by police to have drowned last night when they leaped into the Mississippi river from a bridge to avoid an onrushing street car.

DAVENPORT, Iowa, May 14.—Three girls and at least one boy met death last night by leaping from a street car bridge into the racing current of the Mississippi river, in order to avoid an oncoming trolley car. William Kepke, motorman, reported to authorities today. One body, that of a girl, has been recovered, but not identified.

Motorman Crazed
Kepke, crazed by the tragedy was sent to the hospital for insane at Watertown, Ill. today. He was unable to give a coherent account of the affair which would aid police in checking the deaths.

Kepke said that while he only saw four jump, he believed there were two more boys in the party who may have lost their lives.

Kepke said his car was almost half way across the bridge between the Iowa shore and Campbell's Island, a summer resort, when he saw the little party fifty feet away. He could distinguish only three girls and one boy, but he believes there were two other boys.

Girls Hysterical
As they saw the car coming, the girls, hysterical with fright, jumped first, Kepke said. The boy followed. Kepke believes, in a vain attempt to save them.

At that point the water is only five feet deep, but the current is very swift. Not even expert swimmers can keep up in it.

Had the youths kept their heads, the tragedy would have been averted, for Kepke brought the car to a stop before it reached the spot where they had been sitting.

There are no footboards on the bridge, which is about six hundred feet long, but, outside of a boat, it is the only way to get to Campbell's Island. Every hundred feet, however, are stairs leading to small piers or platforms under the bridge.

Horizontal Pumps
Arrive Here After Damage in Wreck

Ordered many months ago, two horizontal sanitary sewer pumps for the city's new pumping plant at Central pumping station reached Port Arthur today. It is reported at the city engineer's office. The pumps were shipped out from the factory in March, but were in a railroad wreck on route to Port Arthur and were returned to the factory.

When the pumps are installed, they will be used for handling sewerage on a number of lines laid by the city during its expansion program for sewer and water lines.

Farmhouse Burns, 2 Others Are Injured

AMHENS, France, May 11.—Six persons were burned to death when a London-to-Paris passenger aeroplane caught fire in midair and crashed to earth today.

"The last accident on this air route, which was caused by many Americans travelling between the French and British capitals, occurred when two planes collided in midair and fell in flames.

The speed of the journey, two hours and fifteen minutes, has made the air line increasingly popular, especially with business men from the United States and an average of ten a day take planes for Paris or London. The cost has been reduced and the luxury and safety of the machines increased.

Local authorities believe the man was slain several miles up the river as the body indicated it had been in the water at least ten days. Two leather things bound the arms to the sides of the body, and several bullet wounds in the chest and skull indicated the man was the victim of murderers.

RIVER MURDER

Find Floating Body of Man Bound and Shot

LEXINGTON, Mo., May 14.—Police of Missouri river towns combined today to solve the mysterious slaying of an unidentified man, whose body was found on the river banks near here.

Local authorities believe the man was slain several miles up the river as the body indicated it had been in the water at least ten days. Two leather things bound the arms to the sides of the body, and several bullet wounds in the chest and skull indicated the man was the victim of murderers.

100 Others Hurt In Panhandle Cyclone; Dying Fill Hospital

Storm Cuts Swath Mile Wide From Richardson to Loraine, 15 Miles Away—Many Dead Reported To Be Children.

SWEETWATER, Texas, May 14.—Fire broke out at Colorado, Texas, today following a disastrous cyclone that is reported to have killed many in that section.

The call from the stricken town asked for all aid possible, including doctors and nurses.

COLORADO, Texas, May 14.—Twenty-five persons at least are estimated to have been killed and more than a hundred injured when a cyclone struck twelve miles south of here early today, according to W. H. Cooper, secretary of the local chamber of commerce, who is making a check of casualties.

The Colorado Sanitarium is filled with dying and injured as a result of the storm, which swept in a northeasterly direction through Mitchell and Howard counties in the Texas Panhandle. It will probably be several hours before an accurate check of casualties can be completed.

Cooper said. Dead and injured are being carried to several towns in this section.

Many of the dead are reported to be children, according to Cooper.

The cyclone, Cooper said, cut a path one mile in width. It originated near Richardson, south of here, and extended to a point near Loraine, 15 miles away.

Rescue parties have been sent from here and Loraine into the stricken area, but these have not yet reported. All telephone lines to homes in that district are down.

"Many of the best farm homes in Mitchell county have been reduced to debris, and the property loss will run high," Cooper said. "Thousands of dollars damage was done to crops."

Partial List of Dead
Those whose bodies are held at Colorado are:

Lucy Brindle.
A. C. Standifer.

Three boys between the ages of five and twelve years.

A baby boy belonging to Joe Anderson.

Absent Sons Give Tribute Mother's Day

With special sermons and music in the church, family reunions in numbers of homes, messages and gifts dispatched to mothers living in other places, and worn in memory of departed or living mothers, Port Arthurians observed Sunday as Mothers Day.

Scores of Mothers Day messages were dispatched through telegraph office here to points far and near, carrying words of love and esteem from sons and daughters in this city to their mothers managers of the telegraph office said today.

Florists in the city also were kept busy filling orders for flowers to be sent to Port Arthur mothers, and numerous orders for flowers to be delivered in other places were wired out by Port Arthur florists, they report.

Practically every man, woman and child wore flowers Sunday, the flowers of bright hues denoting mother's living, and "for mother's memory, flowers white." Record attendance at church services are reported by the ministers, and following the special Mothers Day sermons, numbers were received into the church, ministers in the city said today.

MODIFICATION OF CITY RESTRAINER

Court Order to Permit Collection of Gas Bills

An order modifying his original (temporary) restraining order issued against the Peoples Gas company to permit the gas company to collect its bills was issued today by Judge George C. O'Brien, in 58th district court.

The bill will not be mailed out, however, until the courts "find the city's gas rate ordinance is illegal," F. Y. Low, manager of the gas company, said this afternoon.

Hearing Wednesday

Hearing of the injunction suit filed in federal court by the gas company against the city was postponed from this morning to Wednesday by Judge Estes, the admiralty docket being called in his court today, Low said.

Advices to The News this afternoon stated that the injunction suit was set for hearing in federal court Thursday morning.

A petition was filed by Fred A. White, assistant city attorney, today on behalf of the city, requesting that Judge Estes postpone the injunction hearing until Engineer Baldwin, appraisal engineer, associated with Burns and McDonald, can be brought down from Kansas City to give testimony for the city. Baldwin was wired by the city to be at the hearing in federal court Wednesday or Thursday.

Low Voices Confidence

"We are confident that the courts will find the city's gas rate ordinance is illegal," Low said. "It is expected that a decision will be handed down this week by Judge Estes, and as soon thereafter as possible, the bills will be mailed out," he said.

ATTORNEY RECOVERING

DALLAS, May 14.—Moman Pruett, prominent Oklahoma attorney, who underwent an operation at a local hospital last week, was reported as "doing nicely" by attendants today.

FLOWER PIRATES RAID STILWELL

Residents Say Night Marauders Are Adults

Stripping flower beds of their choicest blooms, flower pirates operating for several nights past on Stilwell boulevard have left a trail of desolation in yards in the 800 and 900 blocks on the boulevard.

Residents catching glimpses of the flower thieves declare they are men and women of mature years, and not children, as was at first thought. Apparently the flower gatherers are working in well organized bands, but their disposition of the blooms pilfered from the yards has not been determined, it is said.

The first notice taken of the flower robbers was Friday morning, when residents in the 900 block found their flower beds had been ravished during the night, many yards in the block having been completely stripped of their blooms. Saturday morning it was discovered the flower pirates had moved their operations down to the 800 block.

CHINESE ASK LONGER TIME

Bandit Kidnapers Seek Opportunity to 'Save Faces'

PEKIN, May 14.—China today asked the powers for more time in which to secure release of foreigners held for ransom by Shantung bandits.

In applying for extension of an ultimatum delivered by foreign diplomats demanding that the captives be immediately freed, the Chinese government declared it had offered the bandits full compliance with their terms, together with guarantees.

The brigands constantly are changing their demands, it is stated, and now insist upon cash in hand and withdrawal of the government troops that surround them before the prisoners are freed. They wish it to be left to their honor to release the captives.

BOAH TO TEST PUBLIC PULSE

To Tour to Determine if He Will Run in 1934

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Senator Borah will start out this week to tour the country.

His tour will answer the question whether Borah will be a third party candidate in 1934.

It will reveal, first, how far out of agreement with the Harding administration's domestic and foreign policies Borah is, and second, how the American people react to Borah's point of view as compared with Harding's.

Big Speech Grist

Borah will talk about the world court, recognition of Russia, the attack on the primary system, the railroads, taxes, immigration, the shipping policy. He has more speaking invitations than he can accept between now and September.

The first speech will be delivered on Friday of this week at St. Louis. It will deal largely with the international issue—the world court for outlawing war and creating a code of international law with a court to interpret it. On May 24, Borah will speak at Dartmouth College and on June 1 at Norfolk, Conn.

Home to Idaho

Then he will go home to Idaho and give some attention to the situation created by the vetoing by the governor of a statewide primary law. While the loss of that law probably was not vital to Borah's political future, he is committed to the principle of the primary, which President Harding and his associates are doing their best to break down.

Hear one of the fundamental differences between Borah and Harding will become apparent and, politically, it is a much more important difference than their clashing views on the world court.

Harding's Doctrine

Mr. Harding is preaching the doctrine of strong party government, re-establishment of party lines and building up of party loyalties as the best hope for the continued stability of the country. Borah believes the people ought to be untrammelled by party rigidity; that they should be permitted the fullest possible expression of opinion and that if they want to change their minds about their party affiliations between one election and the next, they should be allowed to do so. He regards issues and great questions involving principles as a thousand fold more important to the future well being of the country than the solidarity of any party. He will tell the country so in a strong appeal for preservation of the primary system, as against a return to the old convention plan.

After a short time in Idaho, Borah will invade the midwest and farwest, talking to the farmers. He probably will speak in many of the cities. President Harding visits on his western trip.

Mere Man Who Flirts Had Best Beware: Anti-Kidders Organize in Evansville

WHILE MARRIED MEN STAND ON ONE FOOT OR REST AN ELBOW ON A COUNTER OR TABLE.

Stooped OR HAIR PAINTED IN THE MIDDLE ARE NEARLY SURE SIGNS THAT THE MAN IS SINGLE.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., May 14.—Sweet papa, sweet papa, you'd better look out, the girls of this town have your mark. They say you're a post and bill hand you a cent, if your bite becomes worse than your bark!

They've banded together and formed a new club, with Rose Kirby as its chief, and was to be flirty, the vamp and the club, for him will be nothing but grief.

"The single ones are bad enough," sighs Rose, explaining the plot "that the married men with all their bluffs and wiles will stand for that—we will NOT."

"And it isn't as hard to spot them, as some of you folk may think. The claret she's prepared to tell the story of each, now read 'em over and blink."

Will Stop Flirting

"Yes," says Miss Kirby earnestly, "confirming reports that she's organized an Anti-Kidding Club, 'girls of this town are bothered considerably by male yams, and we intend to put an end to it."

"Especially is this true for the girl who works behind a cigar counter, or in a restaurant. But it holds equally true for office girls and others."

"It's true something was being done to protect the girls from these pests, and we intend to make life miserable for them."

Attacks launched by the club are to be aimed especially against "long some papers," she explains.

"How can we tell those who are married from the single ones? That's easy."

How to Tell Them

"You see, an unmarried man keeps silent on the subject of marriage. A married one will quickly deny it's married even before anyone asks him about it."

"Single men assume a pose when talking, a la movies. Married ones, with their conscience hitting on one cylinder, only use one foot to stand on, and lean an elbow on a counter or table."

"They talk as rapidly as they think they progress into a girl's affection. 'Clothes of a married man usually are new'. But they keep up with the styles and there's no difference in the cut of the suit. Also, the buttons are always properly sewed on married men's clothes."

"In the hair! It gives them away. Single hair, parted in the middle, nearly always indicates youthful bachelorhood."

"We don't want the master around, and especially the married one. He ought to be home with his wife!"

Rev. Cannedy Takes 'Sin' As Topic Sunday

The revival at the Central Baptist church, conducted by Rev. T. E. Cannedy, the pastor, will continue throughout the week, he announced today. Services are being held each evening at 7:45 o'clock, preceded by song services; and cottage prayer meetings are being held at 9:30 o'clock each day.

Rev. Cannedy preached to a well-filled house last night on the subject of "Sin," using his text, "The wages of sin is death." His sermon was a strong arraignment in which he illustrated the many "ways in which sin did it" terrible and damning work.

There have been fifteen additions to the church during the past week, Rev. Cannedy said today. "A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend the services," he said.

Population Increased By 5 Over Sunday

Port Arthur is growing.

That fact is very evident in the announcement this morning that on Sunday—yesterday—five children opened their eyes in the nation's fifth port for the first time in their lives; and, in fact, for the first time in the world, for that matter.

The house of Craig was increased by the arrival of two bright and smiling sons, born to the homes of L. E. Craig and A. A. Craig. The child is carried forth by the fact that the two Craigs, residing on the same street, are not related. The L. E. Craig home is 2116 Fourteenth street, while the A. A. Craig residence is 1808 Fourteenth.

Other births are:

To Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Doyle of 415 Nashville avenue, Saturday, a beautiful boy, who has been given the name of Richard.

To Mr. and Mrs. John Polk of 1302 Sixth street, a daughter, born at Mary Gates hospital Saturday.

To Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Arnold of 2119 Thomas boulevard, a daughter, born at Mary Gates hospital on Sunday.

Rival Gold Coast Milliners in Price War Cut Chapeaus

CHICAGO, May 14.—A price war turned fashionable north shore millinery shops into a furniture paradise today.

Rival milliners, after hours were thrown, started to price slashing to wipe out competitors. Where women, a short time ago, crowned their glory with a chapeau "costing up to $25," vanity considered—there appeared in window cards proclaiming "any hat in the store $5."

Two or three more zealous stores cut to $3 on the same basis.

"The price war" started among "gold coast" establishments primarily because there were "too many of them." Even wealthy Northshore butterflies objected to dusting enough gold off their wings to pay a store's rent for a week.

As cut after cut was announced, two stores were bombed. Police attributed the blasts to sympathizers of rival concerns.

The bombs also blew the prices down further, changing today in the $2 minimum.

The stores were crowded with bargain hunters.

Finding their plans to give Port Arthur ex-service men a chance to renew government insurance have aroused interest throughout the city, Red Cross officials today are urging insurance experts from Houston to come to this city Wednesday, instead of Thursday, and take up their work with ex-service men here desiring to reinstate the insurance.

May Address Legion

This is the word issued by Red Cross officials today, with the announcement that they want the veterans bureau experts to address members of the American Legion, meeting Wednesday night, and the meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Thursday night.

Other conferences between the insurance experts and groups at both of the refineries also are being arranged, the Red Cross officials said.

While the insurance workers are here they will take over a part of the Red Cross hut, Fifth street and Dallas avenue, holding conferences through out the day and evening, giving ex-service assistance possible to ex-service men in the city who desire to reinstate the government insurance.

At Red Cross Hut

Not only the able bodied men, but disabled ex-service men who have allowed their insurance to lapse may have it reinstated, it is pointed out. Official word as to whether or not the insurance experts can come to Port Arthur Wednesday will be received from the Houston office Tuesday morning. Red Cross officials said.

Their visit Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, when they will be located at the Red Cross hut, is assured, Red Cross officials said, and urge that ex-service men interested in reinstating the insurance call the hut at once to make arrangements for conference with the experts.

FRED STONE, COMEDIAN, DOES ENCORE AS AN EVANGELIST

NEW YORK, May 14.—Broadway which knew Fred Stone for 20 years as an imitable master of fun, met Fred Stone, evangelist, for the first time last night and liked him.

Stone, who recently got "religion" while on a snowbound train in Montana, came on here to take part in the National Vaudeville Artists benefit. Six thousand persons in the audience saw only the old Fred as the comedian came on and "did his stuff"—a lively buck and wing. He wound up all smiles at the roar of applause.

But instead of doing another dance as an encore, Stone's face grew serious. He walked down to the foot lights.

"I've got something to tell you folks," he said softly.

And then, in simple language, he told them the story of his conversion. Broadway listened in respectful silence at first. Then, as Stone finished his story, repeating that he was going to become "an active worker for God," that which greeted his clowning, filled applause that would have drowned the vast auditorium.

NEW ANGLE IN HAZING PROBE

Death of Another Student Investigated

CHICAGO, May 14.—The grand jury probing the death of Leighton Mount will be asked also to investigate death of Louis Aubrey, killed in an automobile accident as the alleged sequel to a hazing episode, the states attorney office announced today.

The action will be in view of obtaining manslaughter indictments against those students accused by Rose Conklin Fitch, at one time Mount's room mate, of purposely zig-zagging autos which collided, causing Aubrey's death. John Shabbaro, assistant states attorney said.

Confessions Claimed

The state's attorney office announced also it had obtained confessions from students of Northwestern University, involving school officials, that a campaign of campus gossip and anonymous letters has been waged to hush up the Mount case and advance a theory of suicide on the campus.

Assistants of States Attorney Robert E. Crowe named

Phyllis Trojan, a good friend of Arthur Persinger, a hazing victim, was declared by Crowe to have admitted writing an anonymous letter to the state's attorney's office containing "suicide propaganda."

Presenter Harris Defi

Crowe in asserting there is "no power on earth strong enough to stop this investigation," also announced that he is trying to trace "campus gossip" that state officials had been "fixed."

The grand jury resumed its probe today. Authorities continued to question Fitch, a Ludington, Michigan, youth, who Saturday night repudiated that he "knew all about Mount's death, but was sworn to secrecy."

Cliff Gunn's Elks Put Second Game With Gulf on Ice

Ninth-Frame Rally Fails to Win For Skipper Davis' Proteges After Elks Jump Early Lead For 7 to 4 Victory Over City Leaguers

By BILL ARCHER

THE second one went on record 7 to 4, and the Elks claimed the victory, making it two straight over the Gulf.

Skipper Cliff Gunn's slugging ball players found Olivier in the early stages of the game yesterday on Lakeshore diamond and connected with his offerings for a total of 11 hits, which they bunched together with three lonesome errors to win a ball game.

Cook received the nomination of Gunn to do the hurling, and while the Gulfies found him in the hole and patted the Elks

It was in the second round that baseball blood began to flow. The first stanza had passed with both sides singing from the Zero hymnal, and all joining in on the chorus with three out spires, no tallies.

In the second, Jordan and Fullbright pounded across the fourth plate for counters when the latter crashed out a circuit clout that rolled far over the head and beyond the reach of Gulf fielders in the left-hand pen. One man, Romero, had already gone out on a high foul, and the counting for the Elks just then ended when Bell flew out to Culver, and Cook whiffed the breeze on three good ones.

The Gulf contingent came back in their half of the frame, and Davis, who had doubled, scored when Fuller tripled, after brought in the knotting count when Smith crashed into one that went for two bases. Cadenehead went out at first on a fielder's choice when he batted and Olivier went safe at first in the same way, while Smith, who attempted to gain home on the play, was thrown out. Morgan to Bell, Plagg ended the period on a high foul down the first base line, which Priester wrapped up in his misplay for an out.

The score wasn't shattered up long, however. Skipper Gunn's proteges saw to it that when they chose their favorite sticks in the first of the third, Hooker, who had walked, and Priester, who had gone to first on a fielder's choice, both scored when Morgan, who doubled, and the count stood 4 to 2 at the end of the period. Olivier clouted out the next three men.

After that the game was waged from the pitcher's box, and Cook blanked the Gulfies to the final section of the ninth, while in the fifth, the Elks put the affair on ice for the day when Morgan and Romero scored on Jordan's triple.

The Gulfies rally developed in the final stage of the contest, after one man, Smith, had gone out at first, Romero to Priester, Cadenehead singled, stole second, went to third on an error down by Bell, and scored when Olivier tripled. Plagg followed Olivier and went out at first on a fielder's choice, while Olivier was permitted to score. In the ninth, when Darden lined out to Priester.

The game was filled with longer drives yesterday than were in evidence on the first encounter between the Elks and the Gulf. Four doubles and three triples, added to a long circuit clout featured the contest and indicated the swatters were swinging heavy sticks.

"Doc" Fullbright's long clout came at a critical moment in the game, and bunched almost out of site while the Elkie right fielder was speeding for home with time and half to go on. Fullbright as usual, presented a good role at his station, and robbed at least two Gulfie batters of hits during the contest.

Jordan and Smith split honors in the field during the game, when each added a bit of the spectacular to the play by dashing after what apparently were impossible catches and perfecting their efforts for out with such ease that the job looked easy.

Darden, who sacked the pills at third for the Gulf, looked good at the post, and never let a thing go by him. He drew the edge on Morgan, who, overzealous in an attempt, allowed a grounder to roll between his legs for a hit that he could easily have cancelled.

The hitting of the two clubs and the pitching of Olivier and Cook, who presented added attractions for the fans, featured the event, and put it on record as a fast clash, despite the lopsided result. Had Olivier received better support than was proffered by the Gulf crew, the contest might have been different; but as it was, the Elks chalked up another win—this time bigger than the first.

NEW YORK ON WINNING ROAD

BOTH TEAMS LOOK STRONG AS RACE CONTINUES

NEW YORK, May 14.—Holding their own against the strong western clubs and looking more impressive all the time, the New York Giants and Yankees are getting a good start for another pennant.

The Giants took two out of three games from the Cubs last week and they mauled the Pirates yesterday. The Yankees took two from the Cleveland Indians and dropped their first game of the trip to the Tigers.

The Reds and the Cardinals have done the best of the western national League Clubs against the eastern teams and the Cardinals seem to be finding themselves after a very shaky start. The Reds counted to be dangerous contenders, continue to be a disappointment. The Phils and the Boston Red Sox still hold the title of the season's best "busts" and the St. Louis Browns are missing George Sisler terribly.

Hitting continues brisk in both leagues. Charlie Grimm, Pittsburgh first baseman, has hit safely in 23 consecutive games, and Harry Heilmann, Detroit outfielder, has not failed to hit in 10 straight games.

Alexander, the greatest Gulf pitcher, is going for a record. He has appeared in 51 innings this season and has not issued a base on balls or hit a batter.

JACK IS PLEASED

SALT LAKE CITY, May 14.—"When he is in condition Willard is a great fighter. I expected to see him win. Fipps is a corner. I have never seen him, but from reports he is there. The more the merrier for me," Jack Dempsey commented on the results of the New York heavy-ion fight, which was a weight show.

NEW YORK, May 14.—Mrs. Allen MacBeth runner up in the British women's championship, will play in the American golf championship this summer, according to a letter received by a New York friend.

SHUT OUT

ST. LOUIS, May 14.—With Urban Shocker pitching, St. Louis shut out Boston 5 to 0, making it two straight. In the eighth Ken Williams cracked out his eighth home run of the season, the drive being breakish.

Score by innings: Boston.....000 000 000—0 7 2 St. Louis.....000 100 11—3 5 0 Piercy and Derowmer; Shocker and Severeid.

CATON, MASTER OF HORSES UNDER CZAR, TO DRIVE HERE

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., May 14.—William Caton, who for 15 years was in absolute charge of the imperial stables of Russia and master of horses under Czar Nicholas II, will drive Forest Park stable entries this summer on the Grand Circuit.

Caton has had charge of Forest Park stables, owned by Paul Kubu, Terre Haute horse fancier, since he returned to the United States several years ago after a revolution broke out in Russia.

Caton lost almost all his personal belongings at the outbreak of the revolution. He managed to bring home a watch, bearing the Russian coat of arms, given to him personally by the czar before the latter's death, for winning a national derby in Russia.

In explaining how he came to take up horse racing, Caton said that for five generations back his people were all horse lovers. He expects the Caton name to be held up as a race horse drivers through his younger son.

Caton, in planning his entries for the Grand Circuit, which opens at Cleveland the first week in July, depending on Frisco June to lead the stables. Frisco June holds the world's record in the three-year-old classics. Incidentally his record for the one-mile track is 2:01 1-4.

Twelve other horses, whose sire is the famous Harvester, are expected to assist in the quest of laurels for Forest Park stables.

SABINE BEATS LOCAL CASEYS

Lemire Pitches Airtight Ball and Wins Game

By Bill Archer

SABINE, Tex., May 14.—The game broke up in the seventh frame here yesterday when the Sabine nine swamped the Caseys from Port Arthur to the tune of 14 to 0. The local boys capped the game from a total of 12 hits, while Lemire, who batted as a pinch-hitter for Caseys, dropped his opponent with a lonesome couple.

Steele and Trono did the battery trick for the visitors, while Lemire was ably assisted by Pearce. The battery was too much for the Caseys, and, when the score mounted to 14-0, they quit the field in the seventh.

Skipper McFadden played his boys all over the field, shooting them from second to third and from the field to the infield to win the melee; but it was sowed up in a sack after the sixth, and while Bertran was putting a staunch check to the scoring of the Browns in the fifth, his colleagues were putting the frame on ice for a victory in the eighth and ninth.

WILLARD-FIRPO BOUT JUNE 30 IS PLAN NOW

Heavy Victors of Saturday to Confer Soon

NEW YORK, May 14.—Jesse Willard and Luis Firpo, largest and most important of those who survived the heavyweight carnival Saturday, will be signed to meet on June 30, if the plans of Tex Rickard go through. The conquerors of Floyd Johnson and Jack McAniff have been asked to confer with Rickard and talk terms. Both are said to be willing to meet if the terms are satisfactory and Rickard usually has a satisfying way about him.

Willard, however, may not like the date and if he objects too strongly and demands a longer rest, Rickard will try to find a later date.

The former heavyweight champion will be forced to meet Firpo if he wants the public support in his campaign to get another crack at Dempsey. Willard has satisfied those who doubted that he could come back, but his form was not impressive enough to swing opinion to the belief that he is ready next for a return bout with the champion.

Firpo came out of the carnival as the most impressive of the big contenders. It was not the mere fact of knocking out young McAniff, but the artistic manner in which he did it that made Firpo the outstanding man on the card.

Wise boxing fans who saw all the natural fighting qualities in the South American were saying today that if Dempsey is going to take him he had better waste no time. The longer Jimmy De Forest works with the Argentine giant, the more difficult Dempsey will experience.

The change that De Forest worked in Firpo since he knocked out Bill Brennan is almost remarkable. In the short space of a few weeks, De Forest brought about almost a miraculous improvement in the sense, and he hasn't had a good start yet. It took De Forest two long hard years to make Dempsey and he hasn't had Firpo for six months.

Floyd Johnson, the gamest young fellow who ever went into a ring, was knocked out by Willard, but it doesn't follow that he is through.

On the other hand that setback may be the making of him. If he can be taught to hit as others have been taught before Johnson is bound to pop up again as a logical contender, and with the great heart the younger possesses, he is bound to develop.

City Schedule

FAST GAMES IN CITY THIS WEEK

League Schedule Renewed With Island-Gulf

City Leaguers take a rest today, and tomorrow, the League schedule opens with a bang for another week of excitement.

The past week developed one of the best run-ins the League has experienced since opening day, and fans were treated to some of the snappiest fights on record. The games were of the big league variety, and were even better in matter of records than were the scores and tangles of the major leagues and those of the Texas League.

Tuesday, the Island will take a whack at the Gulf leadership, and on Wednesday, the Texanese and Skipper Craig's Citizens tangle up for another round of baseball. The following day, the schedule indicates, Skipper Tommy Gardner's proteges again mixup, this trip against the City squad, while on Friday of the week, the four-game card will conclude with a game between the Gulfies and the Texas Company nines.

(The schedule indicates some more excitement. If the same amount of "pep" is put into the games this week as was evidenced during the past seven-day period, Port Arthur will go on record again as producing better baseball in the City League than is to be read about in the "big show."

All the City League teams are stronger than they have been at any time since the inception of the ball program. Many recruits have been released and new men signed up since opening day, and the maps are being rapidly worked over and filled up, with the result that Port Arthur is out to see some good ball clubs. Tommy Gardner released three players Saturday, and will probably take on some new ones at once, while the Gulf and the Texanese both have released and signed several new men since the first encounter.

RANCHERS RAISE BIG TRIAL FUND

Support Prosecution in Murder Case

SEMINOLE, Texas, May 12.—The Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' association has raised a fund of $10,000 for the prosecution of Tom Ross and Milt Good, charged with the murder of Dave Allison and H. L. Robertson, inspectors of the association, who were slain in a hotel here two weeks ago.

Members of the association have contributed $2,000 for the widows of the slain men.

Ross and Good, both ranchers, are held in jail at Lubbock after having been refused bail by District Judge Mullican. The habeas corpus hearing was held here. The judge, court reporter, attorneys and prisoners came by automobile for a distance of 150 miles from Lubbock for the hearing. Armed guards accompanied the "expedition." This section of Texas is sparsely settled and Judge Mullican's district is as large as the State of New York.

Ross had been indicted in four Texas counties for alleged cattle theft and Ross was under investigation for a similar offense. The grand jury was to have taken up his case the day following the killing.

The cattle raisers charge that Ross was in reality head of a cattle theft ring and had made himself so feared along the New Mexican border that his word was law. Until Allison and Robertson got after him, he had no interference.

Wholesale thefts had been reported for several years. The largest bunch of stolen cattle, recovered by Allison and Robertson, contained nearly 600 head, for which the grand jury was ready to return indictments against Ross and Good. Ross owns a 10 section ranch near Seminole and Good was noted as an expert rope and rodeo performer.

The two prisoners are typical Western ranchers, both being fine specimens of physical manhood, large, muscular and bronzed. They entered the hotel while Allison and Robertson were in the lobby conversing with witnesses and attorneys.

Allison and Robertson were killed instantly and all of the witnesses swore that neither made any move as if to draw a weapon. However, Ross and Good testified that they fired only after they saw the inspectors move their hands toward their hip pockets.

QUIZ WALL ST. BOMB SUSPECT

Driver of Death Wagon Accused of Murder

NEW YORK, May 11.—Lieutenant Joseph Gagan, famous ace of New York's bomb squad, questioned witnesses today in an effort to prove or disprove the charge that Noah Lerner, 23, was implicated in the Wall Street bomb explosion.

Lerner is in jail on a charge of murdering one of the 28 persons killed when an infernal machine was set off in front of J. P. Morgan's office September 16, 1920. He was arrested on information furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Boole, who said they knew him very well when they were members of the Kuzbas Industrial Colony in Siberia.

They said Lerner had admitted to them that he drove the wagon in which the bomb was conveyed to Wall Street. An I. W. W. card was found in his possession when he was searched at headquarters.

Youngblood, Facing Jail, Gets Contract to Build Bastille in Louisiana

AUSTIN, May 11.—After returning from San Antonio after a search for Hull Youngblood, House Sergeant at Arms Joe White reported that, according to Youngblood's father, "Hull" was somewhere in Louisiana negotiating a contract for construction of a jail.

White visited San Antonio in an attempt to serve a subpoena on the author of the famous "rabbit chase" speech to appear before the bar of the house to testify as to alleged charges made by Youngblood in a speech before a civic club in San Antonio.

MARKS HIT BOTTOM AFTER BRITISH NOTE

LONDON, May 11.—German marks dropped to 25,000 to the pound sterling on the London Exchange today in response to Great Britain's note to Germany regarding reparations.

The note advised the Cuno government that its latest proposals were inadequate, and suggested a larger sum than thirty billion marks with adequate guarantees be offered.

Italy also sent a supplementary reply to the German proposals, and censured Germany for not making an offer that could be a satisfactory basis for negotiations.

WOULD COLOR POISONS

LONDON, May 11.—Distinctive colors for poisons have been asked of the General Medical Council by the Privy Council. Strichnine, it is proposed, should be a "brilliant green." Suitable dyes also should be added to sheep-dip and well exterminator, states the Privy Council's petition.

MANY TRAINS MISSED

LONDON, May 11.—An hour's difference in time in London and Paris has upset cross-channel train service. It will be July 1 before the schedules can be readjusted, railway officials contend.

HARDING WILL ANSWER PARKER

Jurist Asks Commutation For Political Prisoners

WASHINGTON, May 14.—A formal statement of his position respecting the pardon of so-called "political prisoners" probably will accompany President Harding's reply to the suggestion of Judge Alton B. Parker, that the administration take steps to silence the clamor for release of such prisoners.

There was no indication from the White House today whether Mr. Harding would act on Judge Parker's suggestion. Parker, in a long letter, suggested that the president commute to ten years the sentence of three political prisoners now serving 20 year notices. This, Parker pointed out, would make all the remaining political prisoners eligible to parole.

Parker pointed out that it is not generally understood by "many of the people who have become excited because of the continued incarceration of the men in question, that the prisoners could obtain parole if they would comply with the natural and just requirements that they would not violate the constitution and laws of the United States and several states."

The national Civic Federation, Judge Parker said, has endorsed his suggestion after an investigation covering a year, which convinced the federation that the men were convicted after a fair trial, that there were no mitigating circumstances and their sentences were just.

SPEAKING OF BIG WINDS

The man with the bronzed face and distinguished air was a great traveler, and had just returned from a tour around the world. He sat around the stove at the hotel and four or five drummers and men-about-town listened with much interest to his tale.

"How do they guide themselves?" asked the Topeka flour drummer.

"Oh, by their odors of course," said the traveler.

"I don't see anything to laugh about," said the Kansas man. "But speaking of big winds we have something of the kind in our state. You have all heard of the Kansas cyclones but very few of you know what they are. We have plenty of them and some are pretty hard ones, too, but most of the stories you read about them are exaggerated. Still a good, full-grown cyclone can carry things pretty high sometimes. I know a fellow named Bob Long, who was a real estate hustler from away back. Bob had brought up a lot of prairie land cheap, and was trying to sell it in small tracts for farms and truck patches. One day he took a man in his buggy out to this land and was showing it to him. 'Just look at it,' he said. 'It is the finest, richest piece of ground in Kansas. Now it's worth more, but to start things off, get improvements to going, I'll sell you 100 acres of this land at $40 per acre.'

"Before Bob could say more a cyclone came along and the edge of it took Bob up straight into the air. He went up till he was nothing but a black speck and the man stood there and watched him till he was out of sight.

"The man liked the land, so he bought it from Bob's heirs, and pretty soon a railroad cut across it, and a fine flourishing town sprang up on the spot.

"This man was standing on the sidewalk one day thinking how lucky he had been, and about Bob's unfortunate fate, when he happened to look up and saw something falling. It grew larger and larger, and finally it turned out to be a man.

"He came tumbling down, struck the sidewalk with a crack you could have heard four blocks away, bounced up at least ten feet, came down on his feet and shouted:

"It was Bob Long. His beard was a little grayer and longer, but he was all looking well. He had noticed the changes that had taken place while he was coming down, and when he finished the sentence that he began when the cyclone took him up, he altered his language accordingly. Bob was a hustler. Sometime after that he—"

"Never mind," said the traveler. "Let's go in and take something on this one first. I claim the usual time before the next round."

THE GETAWAY

Some queer angles of crime are revealed by the National Surety company, large organization that puts up bond for cashiers, treasurers, ticket sellers and others entrusted with money.

The largest bond claim paid by this company last year was $233,333. Whoever got away with that sum was one of the top-notch criminals of 1922.

The smallest bond claim paid by the N. C. S. was five cents. Names are kept secret in such matters, but we'd like to have a look at the business man who'd go to the bother of enforcing a claim for nickel. Probably, though, it's like keeping books—wasting dollars of time to find an error of one cent.

A strange thing about thieves is that they usually play for comparatively small stakes. For instance the National Surety in one year paid 1528 bond claims under $10,000 each, and only 58 claims above $10,000. You often hear people say, "I wouldn't steal, but if I was going to I'd pull off something big." It doesn't work that way on the law of averages.

Rather extraordinary is the National Surety's statement: "The smallest bond we gave was for $1."

You'd find it interesting if you could trace that back.

Who was the man who couldn't be trusted with $1 except under bonding protection? It's just as well we don't know. An investigation might prove disappointing. Probably a case of some one who was trusted completely, but who, due to a law or some other technicality, had to be bonded for a nominal sum. It's a queer transaction. We pass it by as one of the unsolved mysteries.

The largest bond written by the National Surety last year was for $2,124,535. That's a lot of money to entrust to one person under conditions that make theft a matter of choice. Nothing stood between the bonded person and flight except the bonding company, its detectives, the law and—greatest safeguard of all—the individual's character.

But how many people would you trust with $2,124,535?

People, however, apparently are more honest on the average than is generally realized. The National Surety in its 33 years of business has had to deal with over 200,000 defaulters. But these formed only a fraction of the millions whose honesty and integrity it guaranteed.

The absconder gets the publicity, but he's far-and-away in the minority.

YOUR WILL POWER

It takes death to enable us to appraise people at their real worth. Sarah Bernhardt has passed into history. With the perspective of only a few days, the thought is occurring to many of you, that Sarah Bernhardt the woman was a greater character and even more interesting than Sarah Bernhardt the actress.

Years from now her name will be spoken as we of today refer to Lotta, Booth and other theatrical stars of the long ago. And at that future date, when young people ask you about the Divine Sarah, the indelible impression that will come to you first will be the way she battled to keep alive.

Time after time, for months, the greatest medical specialists of Europe "gave her up." But Bernhardt fought on. Her refusal to die, her tenacious clinging to life by sheer determination, was a rare example of the power of mind over matter.

Death won the fight—finally. But Sarah Bernhardt heroically held death at bay for weeks. The power of mind over matter is mighty, but death is the ultimate victor over every living thing.

Any one who had followed the career of Sarah Bernhardt knew that she would "die hard." Her will power, as much as her natural genius and her excellent training, made her career at great one. For in her early years on the stage, she encountered disappointments, money difficulties and failures that would have discouraged most of us to quit.

Bernhardt was 22 before Doucet "discovered" her. Real fame began to come by the time she was 25. Her will power had kept her going until her training and talent won recognition. While success came comparatively early, she had been battling since she was a precocious child of 14.

Early in the world war, Bernhardt had an accident, considered slight at the time. Given the choice of having her leg amputated or quitting the stage, she chose amputation.

How many women with one leg cut off at the knee, would have the courage to appear in public at all, let alone on the stage where thousands of eyes would be fastened on her as the star?

Will power, thy name is Bernhardt.

From the career of Sarah Bernhardt, we learn two important and helpful things.

FIRST: The power of mind over matter.

SECOND: Success is due as much (possibly more) to will power as to natural ability, training, education and influence. The mightiest force within you is your will power. Do not underestimate it.

"WHAT ARE WE HERE FOR?"

President Richard A. Dunn of the National Civic Service Reform League declares that Postmaster General Harry S. New has made a farce of civil service and that politicians, regardless of fitness, are given the post offices. "What are we here for?" Mayor-elect John Tobin of San Antonio is a Jacksonian democrat. After the votes that had elected him had been counted, Mayor-elect Tobin said that to the victors belong the spoils and that all the offices would go to the winners. Andrew Jackson, a patron saint of the democratic party had a slogan "Put none but friends on guard." That is what the wide-awake political leaders have been doing ever since Jackson's time. Why should a man place his enemies on guard?

"Nobody in fact is stocking largely for the future," says the New York Times. "All are trying to make sure of being able to sell goods before they order them and are more interested in rapidity of turnover than in any other feature." This for the timid prophets of coming disaster.

Now the experts say there is a shortage of iron and steel of 10,000,000 tons as that is the world deficiency which accounts for the high prices of iron and steel. For this reason they say the return to normal conditions should be accompanied by an extraordinary expansion of the iron and steel industry throughout the world.

LABOR DEMAND

New York is a great manufacturing state and the factories of that state are employing 200,000 more men this year than last year. A bulletin issued by the state labor commissioner says that if the demand for labor continues and manufacturing keeps up the labor shortage may become acute. Luck is with the republicans most of the time. When work is plentiful there is a full dinner pail and the wage earner is partial to the party in power.

MAYTIME BRINGS THOUGHTS OF PRETTY MAYDAY MOTIFS AND SUMMER FASHIONS TO MILADY

THE motif of Mayday, with its fresh spring blossoms, gay decorations and springlike delicacies, is always an inspiration and May parties always have a delightful significance, whether one is planning a bridge luncheon or a simple children's party.

In entertaining recently a hostess used most attractive decorations for her bridge table for her bridge luncheon. In the center of the luncheon board was a flat basket filled with sweet peas and ferns, the former in all the delicate pastel shades.

From this basket a rope of green vines was run to each cover, where it ended with a little May basket, filled with the same flowers.

The place card, done in simple water colors was tucked into the basket, which was kept by the guests as souvenirs. Another attractive form of place card was a gaily painted bird, which was attached to the rim of the crystal drinking glass.

Four dainty complete glasses, filled with the celery, radishes, salted nuts and olives, graced the table and the fruit cup carried out the May day idea.

WITH Maytime thoughts of the summer wardrobe to milady who finds that the freshness of white this season is becoming more and more evident as the summer months approach. It was worn to a great extent during the winter months, many women preferring a white frock to black or any other color. Now that the summer season is approaching, white promises to be more in demand than ever.

There is no middle course this season. One wears either the most brilliant colors for evening wear or goes to the other extreme of black or white. Frequently there is a compromise, but this is only found in the sport frocks of white flannel, kasha cloth, or one of the numerous silk weaves worn with a vivid contrasting color.

But in the matter of evening frocks, the mode allows no such compromise. All white frocks are smarter than a combination of white and a color. The most popular trimming is beading in all forms, and the frock in perfectly straight lines heavily incrusting in crystal, refuses to be displaced.

Lace, just now, in various weaves is very much in vogue, owing to its beauty and durability, and in planning for the summer frocks one should consider the beauty and practical qualities of lace.

There is nothing so youthful as sheer white lace, and for a young girl there is nothing more charming for a summer frock than sheer, fragile white lace.

OF interest to Port Arthur women are following fashion notes from Dame Fashion's latest decrees:

Large sunshade hats of straw bound in colored velvet ribbon about the edge of the brim and trimmed with a large, flat bow of wide velvet of the same shade on the upper brim are smart for country wear. They follow the poke lines being narrower in back than in front.

Transparent hats of black or brown lace are to be worn for dressy wear this season. Often they are combined with raffia or horse hair braid and they are only slightly trimmed with velvet or taffeta ribbon of self shade. Black is at present more popular than brown although it is predicted that brown lace hats will be strongly featured for summer wear.

Among the latest Egyptian novelties are Egyptian buckles for slippers and Egyptian beaded bags which have beads worked in large Egyptian head designs.

Two inch bands of velvet ribbon worn flat over the forehead and disappearing into the hair are popular headpieces for the younger women. The ribbon used matches exactly the shade of the evening gown.

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRECOTT TO HER FRIEND, BEATRICE GRIMSHAW

MY DEAR BEE:

Don't you ever get married until you have a little income of your own. Of course I presume that it comes harder for me than for most girls to be dependent, for dad was so lovely that I never had to ask him for anything.

I had a generous allowance and, beside that, a credit account at all the stores. I think that child sister of mine is right when she said I should never have married a poor man, although how she came to have the presence of this I do not know.

Naturally when I went to furnish my house I spent every cent that mother had given me for all the beautiful things I thought I needed. It never entered my mind that more money would not be forthcoming from Jack for my personal expenses.

Boy, I have been married for a long while, as you know, and Jack has never given me a cent. He seems to think if he pays the grocery bills and bills from other stores where we have credit, that I do not need money.

I expect I ought to ask him for a personal allowance, but somehow I cannot bring myself to do it. Of course, never having been married before, I expect Jack just does not realize that I need a little money for my own personal expenses.

Yesterday I invited some girl friends to a luncheon at the downtown hotel where we lived until the apartment was ready and where, of course, my credit was good. I would have liked to have taken them to a lovely new place, but I had no money. In fact, I had no money to fee the waiter.

I got even with Jack, however, for I put a whopping big fee on the bill and told the waiter to get it at the desk. I saw one of the women who had been married longer than I look rather significantly at one of the other women and I was sure they both understood.

It is only a little thing, Bee, but it is a thing. The members of the choir will meet at the church at 6 o'clock and motor to Port Neches Park. All members of the choir are invited to participate in the wiener roast.

is really spoiling all Jack's goodness. He is just lovely about such a lot of things that I know I should not let this little thing worry me so. But you must know, Bee, it is the little things that dominate life.

It is true that it is the big things that draw us up to heaven or crush us down to hell, but the little things live beside us on this earth—and and sleep with us—laugh and grieve with us—irritate and appease us.

We love little things, we hate little things, we fear little things from the day we are born until the day we die.

It is always the little things that count and, because we women have learned this and never ignore this knowledge marital unhappiness stalks through wedded lives.

Have you heard from Sally? I am quite ashamed to find fault, but I suppose Sally is perfectly happy in her perfectly modern married life.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

General Gold Braid picked up a pen.

General Hobbledohy and General Gold Braid and General Buttons sat at one end of a long table. Nancy and Nick and the Tinker Man sat at the other end.

And in between sat all the colonels and majors and captains and lieutenants and sergeants and corporals of both armies in Bing-Bang Land.

They were signing the peace treaty. General Gold Braid picked up a pen. "Ahem!" he said. "What shall we say?"

Everybody thought and thought. "Say there is to be no more war," suggested Nancy.

So the general wrote, "No more war." "What else?" he asked.

"Please, sir, may I ask what we were fighting for?" asked Corporal Clothes Pim.

"Certainly! Certainly!" answered General Gold Braid. "We were fighting for—gentlemen, what were we fighting for?"

"I don't know," declared General Hobbledohy.

"I don't know either!" said General Buttons.

"None of us know," answered the others. "We don't know what we were fighting for."

"Then we'll leave that out," said General Gold Braid. "What next?"

"We had better put in something about land," suggested Major Straight Back. "Who gets the land?"

"I do," said the Tinker Man hastily. "Bing-Bang Land belongs to me and always did. Nobody gets it."

"Then we'll mention it," said General Gold Braid hastily.

"Strikes me this war was rather foolish," he added.

"All wars are!" declared the Tinker Man, getting up. "And I hope everybody here has learned a lesson."

BRIBERY IN FOOTBALL

BRISTOL, May 14.—It's almost as easy to bribe English football players as it is to bribe American football players. The Football Association has charged 100 of £250 a man are known to have been made, one speaker declared. He estimated there are 300,000 bookmakers in the country whose annual winning total £750,000,000.
